Make the most of your investment

► The power of compounding

Compounding can be a powerful tool in wealth creation. Reinvesting distributions can be one of the easiest and cheapest ways to increase your holdings over time. You're compounding your investment's growth by continually adding more units which, in turn, will generate distributions of their own.

Why not reinvest your half yearly distributions?

► The benefits of making it regular

Making regular contributions to your investment can both grow your investment and smooth the effects of market highs and lows.

Why not add a Regular Savings Plan to your investment? Establish one from as little as $50 per month.

You can also use BPAY® to add to your investment at any time with as little as $100. See your statement for your BPAY reference number.

Sharemarket commentary⁵

- ▶ Global sharemarkets staged a rebound in April helped by unprecedented levels of fiscal and monetary stimulus
- ▶ The Australian sharemarket rebounded +9% in sympathy with global sharemarkets

Global sharemarkets rebounded in April with the MSCI World Index returning +10% recovering some of the previous month's losses.

The economic fallout from the pandemic continues to unfold as the US grapples with the worst unemployment crisis in its history, with US weekly jobless claims topping 30 million over the past 6 weeks.

Domestically, the RBA indicated that they would hold rates steady at the historic low of 0.25% "for some time". Australian dollar also recovered some of its heavy losses of the previous two months rallying +7% against the US dollar over the month.

In sympathy with global peers, the Australian sharemarket as measured by the ASX300 rebounded +9%. All sectors finished the month in positive territory, with the rally led by the sectors most beaten down in the March quarter. The Resources sector gained +16%, driven by the Energy sector which rallied +25% despite ongoing weakness in the oil price. The Consumer Discretionary sector gained +16%, with expectations the lockdown laws would be eased. This benefitted both the retailing and gaming sectors with the likes of Crown Resorts and Tabcorp enjoying a strong rebound. The major banks were mixed over the month amidst concerns that rising unemployment and weakening economic conditions would lead to rising bad debt charges. The banks moved quickly to shore up their balance sheets led by NAB raising $3.5 billion in equity capital, in addition to cutting its interim dividend by over 60%. Both ANZ and Westpac 'deferred' the payment of their respective dividends. Over the month, many Australian companies also raised new equity capital to shore up their balance sheets in anticipation of softer economic conditions.

Portfolio performance & summary⁵

- ▶ IML are adopting a cautious approach to the sharemarket and looking to selectively use some of the Fund's cash

The Fund's portfolio had a strong month returning +6.7%, albeit just below the benchmark's return of +7.3%. The Fund remains defensively positioned in sectors such as Utilities, Telecommunications and Health Care, while remaining cautious of some of the sectors deemed more economically exposed or with too much gearing such as the major banks and the REITs sector generally. Unprecedented central bank intervention, fiscal stimulus, significantly lower bond yields and optimism regarding the speed of the recovery have all helped sharemarkets regain some of their losses. However, major uncertainties remain about what the new 'normal' will look like as various countries gradually allow businesses to open up their doors and start serving their customers again. As such, IML remain cautious on the short and medium term prospects for the global economy.

The length and depth of the current economic downturn as well as the speed and strength of the economic recovery remain very uncertain at this time. As a result, IML expect sharemarkets to remain fairly choppy until the prospects for the global economy and various sectors' profitability become clearer. IML continue to take a cautious view focusing on companies that, in their view, have a strong franchise and experienced capable management.

Outlook⁵

IML has been through several corrections in their 22-year history and they remain disciplined in their approach to investing at all times. It is impossible to say exactly when the current volatility will settle down. However, when the sharemarket does stabilise, sound companies with real businesses and sustainable earnings and dividends - which is where IML's portfolios have always been focused - should again be sought after by investors and should do well over the long term.
