Portfolio performance

For the month of January 2021, the Strategic Income Fund achieved a 0.08% return for the Class A units. Projecting the monthly return for the next 12 months would provide an annualised return of 0.95% after fees. Returns were supported by another positive month in credit income markets.

January was a volatile month for global equities as a host of factors appeared to influence market. Some key influences on sentiment included: the vaccine rollout, a lift in global virus case numbers, US earnings season, US presidential inauguration, conclusion of the Brexit trade deal and the proposed US stimulus package. US markets were down over the month with the S&P500 (a market capitalisation weighted index of the 500 largest US publicly traded companies) falling 1.1%. European markets experienced similar losses with the UK FTSE falling 0.8% in January and the German Dax dropped 2.1%. In Australia, equities outperformed with the ASX200 posting a 0.3% gain over the month.

In credit markets, the difference between the yield on credit assets and risk-free assets (Credit Spread) rallied tighter as investors risk appetite continued to improve. As a result, corporates outperformed government bonds during the month.

The Fund's focus remains on high quality investments with minimal volatility. The Fund has 34% in cash instruments, 31% in Floating Rate Notes (FRN) and 15% in highly rated securitised assets. Approximately 72% of non-cash assets are rated AA- or higher.
