Portfolio performance

For the month of June 2020, the Strategic Income Fund achieved a 0.34% return for the Class A units. Returns for the month were driven by the continued rebound in credit markets as assets recovered from the recent COVID-19 induced sell-off.

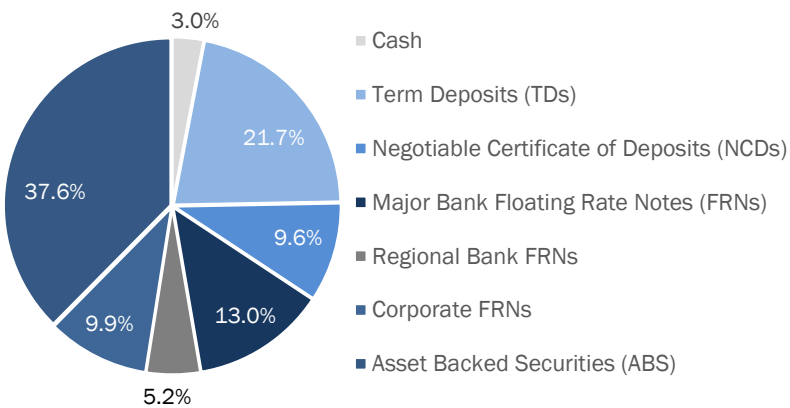

Equity markets around the globe posted solid gains as global economies reopened and stimulus flooded the market. Reversing some of the gains was the growing concern of a “second wave” in COVID-19 cases impacting economic recoveries.

US shares rose over the month, led predominantly by the gains in the technology heavy NASDAQ. Positive economic prints helped improve sentiment, however the continued civil unrest across the US, the re-emergence of the US-China trade tensions and rising COVID-19 cases created market volatility over the month. Risk assets in the Eurozone advanced with optimism encouraged by the European Central Bank increasing its pandemic emergency purchase program by $600 billion Euro to $1.35 trillion Euro. Australian markets also recorded gains for June as lockdown restrictions lifted and the outlook for the Australian economy improved.

In bond markets, corporates outperformed government bonds with optimism coercing investors into higher yielding assets. Central Banks supported the corporate bond market to stabilise the asset class after liquidity rapidly disappeared in March. The market rebounded strongly with normal market conditions evident across most sectors.

During the month of June, the Fund manager increased allocation to short dated asset backed securities, increasing yield whilst minimising duration risk. The Fund’s focus remains on high quality investments with minimal volatility. The Fund has approximately 61% of assets rated AA- or higher, 34.2% in cash instruments, 28.2% in Floating Rate Notes (FRN) and 37.6% in highly rated securitised assets.
