Performance commentary

Returns for the month of July were strong across the risk profiles as every major asset class returned in the black.

Peer relative performance continues to be strong for the funds.

Global equities outperformed domestic equities given better than expected quarterly earnings results.

Offshore US equity positions buoyed returns given the recent strength of the US dollar.

An overweight to gold and inflation linked bonds also benefitted the funds as yields fell while inflation expectations were largely unchanged over the month.

Economic commentary

Quarterly earning updates took centre stage in July, as investors were able to see the impact of many parts of the globe reopening on companies' profits and revenues.

The latest quarterly results have been strong and above expectations with the largest 500 companies in the US, represented by the S&P 500 Index, reporting double digit sales growth and earnings almost double the amount they were in the same period a year ago. Noting the year-ago period was characterised by lockdowns, creating a low base of comparisons.

Regulatory bodies in China made headlines in July following the actions taken against DiDi (ride hailing service in China) and the private education sector. China cited data protection and national security reasons for its suspension of new user registrations for DiDi. In the same month, the cost of private education in China was put under the microscope as authorities noted these services were charging unsustainably high prices. These actions followed anti-competitive sanctions placed on large dominant companies that were deemed to be abusing their market power at the expense of smaller competitors in recent months. It appears China is seeking to balance its objectives of growth and prosperity for many rather than few.

Within Australia the economy is expected to take a hit in the September GDP print following lockdowns as the Delta variant spread through parts of the nation. Despite this, house prices continue their upward trajectory with record low interest rates and increased borrowing by owner occupiers and investors. The RBA remains committed to maintaining highly accommodative monetary conditions to support the recovery and reach the board's objectives of full employment and inflation sustainably within the 2 to 3% target range.
