

Monthly fund update - October 2020

Investment approach

Each Fund invests via a selection of high quality, specialist investment managers across a variety of asset classes. Each Fund's investment portfolio is constructed in a manner that Sandhurst believes will meet the investment return objective of each Fund. Each Fund aims to provide a total return after fees in excess of a stated percentage above inflation over a full market cycle (typically 7 to 10 years), where inflation is measured by the Australian Consumer Price Index (CPI).

Make the most of your investment

You need $50,000 to start an investment in one of our Bendigo Managed Wholesale Funds

► The power of compounding

Compounding can be a powerful tool in wealth creation. Reinvesting distributions can be one of the easiest and cheapest ways to increase your holdings over time. You're compounding your investment's growth by continually adding more units which, in turn, will generate distributions of their own.

Why not reinvest your half yearly distributions?

► The benefits of making it regular

Making regular contributions to your investment can both grow your investment and smooth the effects of market highs and lows.

Why not add a Regular Savings Plan to your investment? You can establish one from as little as $50 per month.

You can also use BPAY® to add to your investment at any time with as little as $100. See your statement for your BPAY reference number.

Performance commentary

From both a peer relative and absolute return perspective, performance from the Wholesale suite of Funds was positive in October. Risk assets were mixed, with tilts to emerging markets within the growth allocation proving beneficial. Inflation liked bonds moderated gains while Australian fixed interest bonds were slightly up. Active management benefited the Funds over the month, with strong returns experienced by T. Rowe Price +2.3% and Bennelong Concentrated Australian Equities +2.3%. Looking forward, we believe the Funds are well positioned with a good mix of alpha seeking strategies through our exposure to emerging markets and small cap equities, and defensive downside protection through US treasuries, gold and currency exposure to the US Dollar and Japanese Yen.

Economic commentary

Anticipation of the US presidential election held in the first week of November dictated market movements in October. US Equities ended the month softer as investors rotated out of high-flying growth technology stocks given the uncertainty surrounding a potential democratic sweep and with that a less favourable regime on the horizon for US corporates. Overall, US shares (measured by the S&P 500 index) recorded a 2.8% fall while the technology dominated Nasdaq 100 index fell 3.2% in October. In Australia, investors, still buoyed by fiscal and monetary stimulus aimed at returning the economy to trend growth helped Australian shares (measured by the ASX 200 index) appreciate by 2.5%.

As of writing, Joe Biden appears to have won the US presidential election, however, much to the delight of markets the Republicans appear to have a strong lead in the Senate. This is somewhat of a goldilocks result for many investors as a majority senate may make it difficult to pass many Democratic agenda items such as increasing the corporate tax rate from 21% to 28% which would have a negative impact on corporate earnings in future periods. President Trump is yet to concede defeat and has questioned the legitimacy of the postal vote which was overwhelmingly democratic and won vital states such as Pennsylvania, Michigan and ultimately the election. The split powers in government likely makes any further fiscal stimulus package more moderate, cooling sentiment around near-term inflation as evidenced by the reaction of treasury yields following the result.

Challenges remain on the horizon, with recent data pointing to an increase in infections around the globe. The race to a vaccine remains and will be imperative to the recovery. The recent bout of volatility is a timely reminder of the importance of diversification in portfolios and that pragmatic risk management will be required through the various stages of the recovery.
